

EXPERTISE WITHOUT BORDERS WEBINAR SERIES

Hermiona Education and Milarc Vista bring together the world's leading experts in university admissions, academic planning, and student development — and the ambitious families who seek them out. Our webinar series is built on that same conviction: that the right guidance, delivered by the right people, can shape a student's entire trajectory. We make it available online, so that nothing stands between your family and the expertise you deserve.

01. ADMISSIONS INTERVIEW TRAINING: HOW TO TELL YOUR STORY

Led by former interviewers and alumni

Learning how to clearly communicate your unique story is key when it comes to admissions interviews.

In this session, you'll learn how to identify your strengths and curiosities, connect your interests into a cohesive narrative, and respond to interview questions thoughtfully and cohesively.

Through guided exercises and real examples, you'll leave with a clearer sense of your story, and how to tell it with confidence – skills that will help you not only in admissions interviews, but also across essays, networking, and self-presentation in any high-stakes setting.

02. MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR SPECIAL TALENTS: SPECIALIZED RESUMES AND SUPPLEMENTS FOR ARTS, ATHLETIC, AND RESEARCH PROGRAMS

Led by admissions consultants with personal experience in admission to top art, music, athletic, and academic programs

In this session, you'll learn how to incorporate your special talents in your college application. With real examples, you'll learn how to approach specialized supplements such as artistic portfolios and resumes, supplemental essays, athletic recruiting profiles, research papers, and recorded performing arts auditions.

You'll also learn how to collaborate with specialized teachers, mentors, and coaches for letters of recommendation and how to connect with relevant specialists at colleges you're interested in attending.

03. THE ROLE OF AI IN HIGHER EDUCATION AND COLLEGE ADMISSIONS

Led by a leading AI researcher and a former admissions officer

As AI reshapes education, what do students need to know to be prepared, from their admissions journey to college life?

In this session, we will discuss how to differentiate between AI use cases that are thoughtful and useful and those that risk not only misrepresenting your work, but also diminishing your unique intellectual voice. We'll share a perspective on AI grounded in leading institutions' guidelines on AI-assisted work, with a clear emphasis on uses that will help and not hurt your academic standing and growth.

04. TURNING YOUR INTERESTS INTO A CAPSTONE PROJECT

Led by industry expert and admissions consultants with direct capstone experience

Capstone projects are self-driven, in-depth projects through which students turn their passions into tangible outcomes. These projects include research, community service initiatives, creative works, and even startup businesses.

In this session, you'll learn how to turn an interest into an idea and execute it through a capstone project.

We'll share examples, such as a student with a passion for politics and business. This student, through guided mentorship, discovered a particular passion for startups and entrepreneurship, and even started a community for youth in venture capital.

We'll also discuss how your final two summers before applying to university fit into this process. Together, a well-designed capstone project and strategic use of summers can be a defining part of your academic narrative.
